February 16, 2015: The nectar of Bhakti Rasa flowed in Prem Mandir on Falgun Krishna Ekadashi, when the devotees celebrated the 3rd Foundation Day of the Prem Mandir.

The irrigation and PWD minister of Uttar Pradesh Shri Shiv Pal Yadav participated in the foundation day celebration. The minister said that it was an ecstatic experience to be present in the spiritual event. He has submerged in the ocean of devotion by coming here. He said the seed of the Divine love sowed by Kripalu Maharaj has become a full grown tree in the form of the Prem Mandir. Thousands of followers of Kripalu Maharaj came from around the world to participate in the event. They were wearing the yellow clothes in which the Radha name was imprinted. They started to gather in the temple from 5 a.m. to participate in the day long ritual of the temple. They sought the blessings of the presiding deities while serving them through different rituals. The devotees organized 'Kalash Yatra' carrying Yamuna water to purify the temple premises. A special puja was performed under the auspices of Kripalu Maharaj's daughters Shyama Tripathi, Krishna Tripathi and Vishakha Tripathi and son Shri Ghanshyam Tripathi (Bare Bhaiyya ji). The holy bath (abhishek) was given to deities with milk, curd, honey and herbs. The conch was blown during the abhishek and Maha-arati, which gave a sacred feeling to the people who were present there. The Chhappan Bhog containing 56 food items was offered to the deities. The prasadam were distributed among the devotees. The devotional music was rendered by various musical troupes and also Harinam Sankirtan was performed by the devotees throughout the day. The parikrama of the temple and cultural events were also performed on this day. The local Samajwadi party leaders, the District officials were also present with the minister.
